Junior Developer

Profile

Passionate and Hardworking self learner and who is currently a student studying at Monash university, doing a full stack developer course i really love learning technologies. My best strengths be API'S, researching, and working on front-end Development for now and working in a team. My weakness would be knowledge on back-end. I have been studying and self learning doing courses on udemy for the past two years. I would like to join your company i reckon i would be a great candidate specially with my skill-set.
