PROFILE

As a driven graduate from Monash University's Full Stack Developer program, my expertise lies in the MERN (MongoDB, Express.js, React, Node.js) stack, with a distinct focus on React and front-end development. Committed to lifelong learning, I have consistently expanded my skill set through platforms like Udemy. Currently honing my back-end development skills, I excel in team environments and bring dedication to personal growth and technical mastery. Confident in my skills and potential, I am eager to bring my unique capabilities to your organization.
